Wildrose leader makes a stop in Drayton Valley

Manita Lulla with then from Postmedia Network

Alberta Wildrose leader Brian Jean is touring the Drayton Valley-Devocon constituency along with neighbouring constituencies. He made a stop in Drayton Valley and talked about his leadership.

"When you have a problem that everybody wants, then you are going to be challenged in that position. As far as I go, I have no difficulty with that," said Brian Jean.

Recently, reports confirm that the Alberta Wildrose constituency association called for a review of Jean's leadership. The Wildrose leader in Lac La Biche-St. Paul-Two Hills passed a resolution earlier in June asking for the party's constitution to be amended to allow for annual leadership reviews and for the party's executive committee to call a leadership review at the party's annual general meeting in October.

"I continue to focus on what's important and what constituents want in Drayton Valley and across Alberta and that is going to be my driving force and what I will focus on, everybody else can get caught up in the sidelines. I will focus on the positive and what's going to change in the best interest of Albertans," said Jean when asked to comment.

While in Drayton Valley, Jean stopped at Frank Maddock High School, met with the Pembina Area Synergy Group and had a barbecue with residents of Drayton Valley and Branson County.

"Economically, it's looking pretty tough right now especially in the rural parts of Alberta, including Drayton Valley. They have really hit the walls as far as the economy goes, so we are worried about that," said Brian Jean.

Drayton Valley-Devocon MCA Mark Smith said the tour lets the local constituents know that the official opposition party is listening to Albertans.

Smith is pleased to see people supporting Smith in his constituency. "I have having the opportunity to discuss with Mark and just to see the constituency office and get his view of how the people are feeling and the pulse of the community, and it's very clear to me that the majority of the people we have met so far have been positive about Mark," he said.

At the barbecue, Jean took questions and touched on job losses throughout Alberta and NDP's carbon tax. The mention of NDP had some residents booing and cheering for Jean as he spoke.

A recent poll by the Edmonton Sun asked whether Jean should undergo a leadership review with 49 per cent saying yes and 50 per cent saying no.

Smith said the support for his party has shot up with numbers rapidly changing since last year.

"We have seen a tremendous change across Alberta whether it's Calgary, Edmonton, right across Alberta," he said.

"Edmonton is a challenge. Because it's primarily a government town and (Alberta Premier) Rachel Notley considers to perceive 50 per cent of the vote, but I will tell you that our numbers have doubled since last year, so we have seen some significant changes and we have gone from third to a very strong second."

Smith said he is impressed by Jean's role and leadership. "Brian brings an incredible vision of where you want to go in the province and I believe he will be the premier in three years," he said.

BLACK PARTIES

How can a barbecue fight crime?
Throwing a block party is a fun and easy way to help you get to know your neighbours. Research shows that communities have lower crime rates when neighbours know and care about each other. So take a step to building a safer community and hold a block party.

- Involve local business and residents.
- Invite people you know and people you don't.
- Make it an event that welcomes families and singles, young and old, newcomers and old timers.
- Ask your community leaders and police officers to come and mingle.
- Meet all kinds of people who feel like the neighbourhood you want to have.

REACH OUT AND GRILL SOMETHING!
FCSS will provide up to $150 to help with the purchase of supplies for all approved Block Parties.
If you are interested in holding a block party please contact Shelly 780-514-2568.

If you live in Branson County, call Marcel 780-224-4412 or the Pembina Valley Rural Council which Association about Block Parties scheduled for your area.

Household Hazardous Waste

These solid or liquid materials and gas containers have outlived their usefulness and could harm people or the environment, without special handling and treatment in how they are discarded. They can be flammable, corrosive, explosive or toxic and because of these dangerous characteristics should not be sent to the landfill or emptied into sewer systems. Household hazardous products in Canada display one or more of the following symbols:

- Flammability - burn easily (painting solvents, degreasers, and other solvents).
- Corrosives - eat away surfaces and skin (pesticides, alkaline cleaning fluids and old batteries).
- Toxicity/Explosive - react violently when mixed with other chemicals, under pressure or heat (pesticides).
- Toxic/Poison - poison or cause damage to living organisms (pesticides containing heavy metals like mercury, lead or cadmium).

When a product displays one or more of the warning symbols in discarded (after considering reuse possibilities), it should be disposed of properly. Examples of acceptable products below:

- Abrasive cleaners
- Acetone
- Aerial paints and sprays
- Air fresheners (peroxy)
- All-purpose cleaners

Breton local makes his way in the movie industry

Justin Klenden
Western Review

Kane Nelson, who was born and raised in Breton and danced with Miss Jeanne's School of Dance, recently finished filming a movie called Hot Streets, directed by Xiaolin Zhang. The movie features hip hop dance with a touch of romance. Nelson will be playing an antagonist role in the movie.

"The movie is about a young boy who goes through struggles in life together with other supporting characters who are about 14 to 16 years old and they live on the streets. They live on the streets because their parents either abandoned them, abused them, or have passed away. The boys became dance busters and are called the Red Street Kids," said Nelson. "I play the role of Jimmy and I am the bad guy, who is the leader of the Red Dragon crew. The other lead character is in the film. The film also shows our love story."

In January, Nelson went through five stages of audition to land a role in the movie and was in Vancouver for about two months to film.

"When I landed the role, it was just awesome. I was ecstatic but not overwhelmed. There is so much talent in Vancouver and there was close to 700 people in Vancouver who auditioned for this and I got chosen for the part. It is very hard to find work in the city so when I got asked to play it, I was ready," said Nelson. "It was an amazing experience. I love it. It is completely different from stage work because you are behind a camera and you have over 150 different production people and there are five producers, a director, an assistant director and they are all guiding you through a character. This career path that I have chosen is super fun and I would not change it for the world."

Nelson said this is not the first time he was cast for a movie.

"I was actually a supporting lead character in Centre Stage: On Pointe and I played the role of Sam. I did that in September to November 2012 and that movie is going to be premiering on Lifetime TV on June 25," he said. "The past year has been a really awesome whirlwind from doing stunt work in the new Star Trek movie that is coming very soon to being a back up dancer for Janet Jackson in concert to working on Centre Stage and now to doing this movie. I am very grateful for all the opportunities that were thrown my way."

When asked what is next for him, Nelson said he recently auditioned for a part in a Disney movie called Descendants 2.

"I am waiting to hear about the movie called Descendants 2, which is a Disney movie, and I am going for the role of Harry, who is Captain Hook's son. I felt great in the audition but I do not know if I will get picked for the part, that would be awesome," he said. "There are going to be other roles that will come out in that movie as well and I am going to go for it if Harry does not work out. They are also going to have a dance audition, so if landing a character does not work out for me, then I will go out and try the dance auditions."

With all the achievements Nelson has accomplished, he said that there are still a few dreams he is working hard to fulfill.

"My ultimate dream as a dancer is to be a backup dancer for Justin Timberlake," he said. "My ultimate dream as an actor is to work for Marvel and be a superhero or a supervillain in the comic book that they are producing right now, or even a TV series that they are producing. I have always been a big fan of all the superheroes like the Avengers."

Nelson said he is grateful to have a group of people who supports him in his dancing and acting career.

Josanne Nelson for helping me, supporting me, guiding me, and training me to be a dancer and to get where I am today in this professional industry," he said. "Thanks of my parents are very supportive as well as my friends, so I am just thankful for everyone looking up to me and backing me throughout this journey."

our editorial

Not a valid excuse

"I never received them." These four words were uttered in Drayton Valley Provincial Court recently by two separate individuals in front of a judge and a crown prosecutor. The outcomes were disappointing, to say the least.

The first "I never received them" was claimed by a defendant in a motor vehicle collision court case dating back to September of 2015. At that time it was alleged the defendant was involved in four hit and runs on the morning of September 15 and when stopped refused to give a breath sample for the local RCMP officers.

She received a ticket for failing to stop at the scene of an accident and one for refusing to provide a breath sample. This matter has been brought forward to court a few times already and has been adjourned each time for various reasons. With the trial adjourned from April to June 14 of this year, the defendant said she didn't get a set of three video discs purportedly containing a 911 call and statements made by the acts of RCMP officers, who arrived on the scene in two separate vehicles. Sounds plausible.

However, at the trial scheduled on April 15, the Crown Prosecutor told the defendant that there were no discs included with the disclosure package. What she failed to mention to the defendant at that time was that if she wanted to see them, she would have to make an appointment with the Crown Prosecutor's office in Hinton to view them there.

Consequently, the judge ruled the situation "An administration error" and set the matter over to July 19 to set a new trial date. The two civilian witnesses will have to come back to court yet again.

One witness, who owns a business in Drayton Valley, said he's very frustrated with having to take time off work to appear in court as a witness as it's costing him money. No one can dispute this, especially with the downturn in the economy, when a number of local businesses are already cutting back on staff and hours.

The second "I never received them" was claimed at a trial held June 14, when the defendant was faced with two charges - operating an unregistered motor vehicle and driving while suspended. The defence claimed he never received notices indicating those facts - despite showing an up-to-date home address of Peace River.

The Crown Prosecutor claimed the defendant probably did receive the notices that were sent by regular mail but tossed them in the garbage; however, the judge asked the prosecutor whether any of his own mail had ever gone astray. The judge also said he still wonders why important documents are sent by regular mail instead of registered mail. While he did find the defendant guilty for having an unregistered vehicle, he found him not guilty of the second charge.

"I never received them" became a major excuse for people not owning up to their mistakes, consequences and responsibilities from now on? Not only are they wasting taxpayers' money with this, they are also costing court time for the judge, prosecutor, defence and court support staff who do not live in this community.

It's time to stop making excuses. Own up to your mistakes, get over them and get on with your life and let everybody else get on with theirs for a change.

Stuck in the middle

If you live in this area, then it is probably inevitable that you shop at our local big-box store in Drayton Valley. Now, if you are a hard-core credit card user like me, then you are in the same sticky situation I am right now.

A major retailer that we shall name "Big Box" in my column will not be accepting one of the major credit cards in Canada and starting in July in Ontario and then rolling out the changes in different parts of the country.

Had I been living someplace else right now, I would just drop and take my business somewhere else, but I live in a small town and often find myself going into this store. I use one of the cards offered by the said company because I have a card that helps me collect points that help me save when I travel. I do ensure that my points yield more savings than the amount cost of my credit card and add another credit card would increase my costs and I won't be able to use this travel discount.

I am caught in the middle of this. The big-box store blames the credit card company, "It's unacceptable that they won't accept my card because they both think you are closer to the other store, and never having (discounts) is a loss. I have had both people from my life. Apparently, the two stores have now made my life hell."

I have been efficient and more close to you that I may have to look back picking a side on this one. Here comes the time for a better retailer for my everyday shopping or the search for another credit card.

RVP summer drama camp registrations now open

Justine Klamon
Western Review

The second summer drama camp hosted by the River Valley Players (RVP) Association will take place from July 25 to 29 at Frank Haddock High School's drama room.

Anyone who is in Grades 6 to 8 and is interested in learning more about theatre or wants to improve their drama skills, is encouraged to register for the camp.

"This is a drama-focused summer camp for young people learning or learning Grades 6 to 8. We provide training and experienced facilitators to work with participants over the course of the week, at the end of which there will be a short showcase for parents and anyone else interested to come and watch. Performing in front of an audience is part of the learning journey that they will take," said RVP secretary Alle Spicer-Bless. "During the camp, participants will work on acting, movement, design, costumes, script analysis, and possibly other skills as suggested by the participants on their registration form. Feedback from last year's camp was reviewed by the facilitators and suggestions taken into account while planning for this year."

In addition, Spicer-Bless said camp participants will also learn valuable life skills, including teamwork and problem solving. "This camp is a life skill that most offered in the community. Not only is it a valuable way for money, but it develops many important life skills in a fun way," she said. "Participants learn to collaborate with their peers, problem solve, discuss theories and reasoning, emphasize with others, speak in front of a group, follow instructions, and above all, work as a team!"

Anyone interested in participating in RVP's summer drama camp can register by contacting Spicer-Bless at (780) 514-8182 or alle@rvpvalley.com.

The week-long camp costs $20, thanks to a grant support from Drayton Valley and District History and Community Support Services and the Town of Drayton Valley Events Grant," said Spicer-Bless. "Participants will receive a shirt as part of their registration fee. However, they need to be bringing lunch with them each day. There is a water fountain at the venue to make sure everyone is hydrated."

Provincial court case adjourned again

Cody Westman
Western ReviewCourt case adjourned again because of administration error.

A court case that has been adjourned several times over the past year and was rescheduled for June 14 was adjourned yet again because of an administration error.

Two charges were originally laid against Chady Tins, a resident of Drayton Valley, on September 15 of last year when she was given a ticket for failing to remain at the scene of an accident and one for failing to supply a breath sample to a peace officer.

These appeared in court on October 20 of last year and a trial date was set for December 16. However, that date was cancelled on November 30 as she was unable to attend due to a medical condition. A new trial date was then set for April 19.

When Tins appeared in court on April 19 without a lawyer, Judge Marilyn White disqualified herself, saying "This needs a fresh view".

A new trial was then scheduled for June 14. At that time, Tins was given her disclosure package with one film video, one of the 911 call made after the incident and two of statements made by RCMP officers in two police cars, who attended the scene separately. Although Crown Prosecutor Chris Palmer stated there were no discs with the disclosure, she failed to tell Tins that she (Tins) had to make arrangements with the Hinton Crown Prosecutor's office to refer to refer them.

This appeared in court without a lawyer on June 14, with John Higerty as the sitting judge and three witnesses waiting to testify. When Judge Higerty asked Tins if she was ready to go to trial, she replied she didn't receive the discs. Higerty then gave her two options - she could ask for an adjournment or she could go ahead with the trial with the videos being played in court. Tins chose an adjournment and is to appear in court on July 13 at 10 a.m. to set a new trial date.

Man found guilty on one charge, not guilty on second charge.

A man who drives trucks and taxis for a living was found guilty in court on a charge of driving a vehicle that was not registered and not guilty of a charge of driving with a suspended licence.

Coastal Stephanie Leduc described how she was riding in a patrol car with another constable when they stopped to speak to a hitchhiker on the side of Highway 22, half a kilometre north of the Boston Pizza in Drayton Valley. As they were doing that a work truck was passing slowly by the scene. She then noticed a Buick car approaching at a high rate of speed, which then swerved around the police car nearly hitting the work truck.

The officers got back into their cruiser and pulled the Buick over. They asked the driver, William Dobransky, for identification, then went back to her cruiser to check the name on her computer. She discovered Dobransky's licence was suspended due to too many demerit points. When she ran the licence plate after that, it came back to an unregistered motor vehicle, and she did not see any tags on the licence plate. Leduc and her partner wrote up three tickets as well as a return notice and the vehicle was towed to Chadden's Towing.

Leduc said she also wrote to the Superintendent of Motor Vehicles regarding Dobransky's vehicle, and received two certificates confirming that the registration had expired on April 30, 2015 and that Dobransky's driver's licence had expired on August 16 of 2015.

Crown Prosecutor Euan Gilmore asked Dobransky whether he had received any notice of suspension at his home address in Peace River, and he replied that he hadn't.

"You know you can't get too many demerit points or you lose your licence. You've had seven speeding tickets in the last calendar year," said Gilmore.

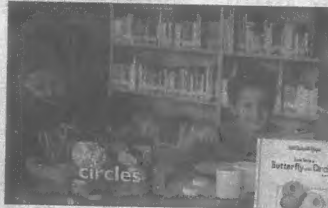

Gilmore summed up his case by saying there were a lot of coincidences stacking up, and even though Dobransky had an up to date address, he did not receive it did not open, the notice.

Judge Higerty found Dobransky guilty of driving an unregistered vehicle. He was fined $300, and was given until September 13 to pay. He found Dobransky not guilty on the second charge of driving without a licence.

Resident enters into peace bond
Cody Pasche, who was originally charged with assault, entered into a 12 month, $1100 no cash peace bond with the conditions that he is to keep the peace and be of good behaviour and have no direct or indirect contact with his significant other, Judge John Higerty agreed to Pache's plea if he breaches any one of those conditions, the court could go after him for the $1100 and he could have a new charge laid against him.

Drayton Valley and area Legacy project is moving forward with all the hard copies of past local newspapers to be converted to electronic or digital copies.

Coun. Graham Long said the hope is for all of it to be available online after they have been converted to electronic files and have backups at the Drayton Valley Municipal Library.

Mayor Glenn McLean thanked all the volunteers and everyone involved in the project and was pleased to see the project moving forward.

The number of PDF files to be created would be more than 2,900 from past newspaper copies starting in 1956 with a total of 14 DVDs.

The budgeted cost of the project is about $44,000.

Local fire department gives fireworks safety tips for upcoming holiday

Jason Thomson
Western Review

The Drayton Valley/Brazeau County Fire Services Fire Chief Tom Thomson shared some fireworks safety tips just in time for Canada Day celebrations.

According to Thomson, there are two types of fireworks. One is a high-hazard fireworks, which is used mainly in big shows, and a low-hazard fireworks, which can be purchased and used by the public. In Drayton Valley, no one is allowed to set off low-hazard fireworks even if they are in an open field, residential areas, and campgrounds. In Brazeau County, fireworks are allowed but need a permit. Anyone looking to set off fireworks in Brazeau County must get a permit at the fire hall as well as permission from the property owner where one plans to set off fireworks. Fireworks are not allowed in villages.

Some of the fireworks safety tips given by Thomson are the following:

1. Never make or build your own fireworks. Always purchase them from a reputable store.
2. Don't hold fireworks after being ignited.
3. Only light one fireworks at a time.
4. Keep children and pets away from firing area.
5. Collect the pieces and put it in a bucket of water before throwing in the trash.
6. Store fireworks in a building that is not attached to a house for example in a shed.
7. Store fireworks in a place where they will not be exposed to high heat or ignition source.

FALSE ALARMS
The fire department received a residential alarm call on June 9 at 1 p.m. but was later determined to be a false alarm due to cooking.

Another residential false alarm was attended to by the fire department on June 11 at 4:30 p.m. in Breton. On June 11 at 2 p.m., there was another false alarm at a residence in Drayton Valley.

EMS ASSIST
Fire crews were called on June 9 at 11 p.m. to assist EMS with regards to a patient suffering from cardiac arrest.

GRAB SUMMER WITH THESE SIX UNFORGETTABLE UNIQUE ALBERTA STAYS

Summer is here, but it won't last long. So plan a weekend getaway with friends or family to discover some truly unique places to stay in Alberta and make some memories that will last a lifetime.

Back to Nature Retreat

Bed-and-breakfast retreats don't come more cozy or welcoming than this. A majestic post-and-beam log home built by TV's Timber Kings is the backdrop for a memorably relaxing trip into the quiet forests north of Cochrane. But it's not all silent and slow. After exploring nearby Winchell Lake and walking the on-site perennial garden, head to the nearby town of Watley Valley, a small town with a liveliness that defies its quaint look. WW Days on Aug. 13 will remind you what's great about small towns. Make sure to keep enough time for a trip to nearby Fallen Timber Meadows and a glass of locally made honey-wine and, if you plan your trip right, indulge in Rootstock, the meadery's field-to-table festival of food and drink, also taking place on Aug. 13.

Peace River Cabins

Most folks wouldn't put the words "mighty" and "peace" together but they fit perfectly when describing this beautiful region of northern Alberta. And in the midst of Mighty Peace Country lies the hidden gem of Peace River Cabins & Outdoors. With so many things to do, this is more than a weekend getaway so plan accordingly: Book a cottage or a cabin or bring the RV. Tent and trailer tops too. Rent a canoe or go on a guided paddle on the Peace. Go fishing. Hike the riverbanks and surrounding hills. Or just kick back with a good beer and enjoy the mighty peace.

Bar Diamond Guest Ranch

Need room to roam? How about 34,000 acres in the Canadian Badlands? Ninety minutes north of Medicine Hat, close to the Saskatchewan border, sprawls the Bar Diamond Guest Ranch. Stay in the original Bar Diamond Lodge, built in 1903 from logs that escaped a huge boom up river and were hauled one at a time by horse and buckboard. Or, if modern is your thing, book a room in the Uplands Lodge. After a day exploring the badlands on horseback or gliding the Red Deer River on a jet boat, settle in for some down-home western cooking and then share your day's adventures around a crackling fire.

Aspen Crossino

Looking for the perfect blend of rustic indulgence? A short drive southeast of Calgary, just west of Moosegale on Hwy 24 is a delightful train-themed campground and recreation area. Staying in a beautifully appointed cabin is one thing, but when it happens to be a fully refurbished caboose car, you're in for a truly unique stay. There are three caboose cabins to choose from, each with its own private deck, gas barbecue and fire pit. Inside is total luxury. Stroll over to the restored Pullman dining car for dinner. Pick up a souvenir at the gift shop and try not to spend all your money in the glorious garden centre.

Aurum Lodge

About 45 km west of Nordberg is one of the province's best known ecotourism destinations. Aurum Lodge overlooks the pristine waters of Abraham Lake and provides a spectacular wilderness experience. The property is perfectly situated to explore Elbow Country and Banff and Jasper national parks. Make it a long weekend – there's a two-night minimum. Come back in winter and take a photography workshop to learn how to capture the suspended methane bubbles just beneath the surface of the frozen lake.

Mount Engadine Lodge

In the heart of Vancouver's Country is local favourite, Mount Engadine Lodge – an inviting, intimate retreat anywhere west of Calgary that accommodates no more than 19 guests at a time. If there's no room at the inn, see if you can book the yurt, high style comfort camping – where pets are welcome. Or just come for high tea between 2 and 5 p.m. Not your run-of-the-mill high tea, either: characterful local meats and cheeses, as well as freshly baked treats, seasonal fruits and excellent coffee from a local Cammore roastery. Put your feet up on the porch and watch for wildlife wandering through the aptly-named Moose Meadows.

Thorsby hosts Drive it Home program

On June 6th, Warburg School and Thorsby High School hosted the "Drive it Home Program." The event was also hosted at Breton High School on June 5.

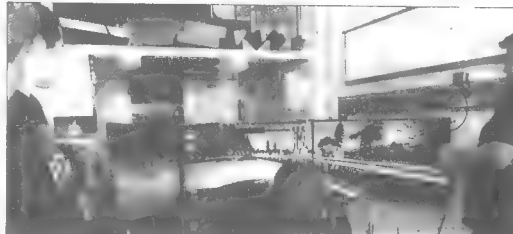

The program brought together numerous partners including:
Thorsby/Breton RCMP
Thorsby, Warburg, Breton Fire Departments
YIELD (Youth Initiatives and Education in Lifestyles and Driving) Program
The Office of Traffic Safety
Alberta Health Services
Associated Ambulance

The program was developed to speak to students in regards to high risk driving. Numerous displays were set up including a driving simulator, and a vehicle extraction "YIELD" setup, an interactive driving simulator which will assist in the understanding of the importance of paying attention while driving and the possible outcomes of driving distracted while texting, among other distractions.

The fire department provided an overview of the work Fire Responders and Fire Fighters are involved in during a crash scene including scene safety, vehicle extraction with the use of the Jaws-of-Life, among other life saving tools.

EMS provided a further understanding of the importance of wearing a seatbelt by describing in vivid detail what Paramedics and PMTs may have to do in order to keep a casualty alive after a serious crash where the individuals did not wear a seatbelt.

The Thorsby/Breton RCMP wants to thank all the stakeholders who assisted in this valuable event.

Alberta Municipal Affairs hosts public meetings

Crissy Westman
Western Review

Alberta Municipal Affairs are hosting a series of public meetings this spring and summer to discuss the impact and implications of the Revised Municipal Government Act.

A public meeting was held in Rocky Mountain House on June 9 and attended by municipal representatives from the Town of Drayton Valley and the Village of Drayton, along with representatives from communities surrounding Rocky Mountain House.

Municipal Affairs Minister Danielle Lachue was unable to attend as she was in Fort McMurray however, Assistant Deputy Minister Gary Sandberg and Steve White were both in attendance through the 60 some proposed major policy changes.

Sandberg gave a short history regarding how the upcoming changes were made. He noted that from a February to April of 2014, a municipal review team held face-to-face consultations in 11 communities across the province. The team asked what was working, what wasn't working, and what kinds of services would best support building better communities.

Each of the 11 locations hosted multiple sessions for different groups of stakeholders. There included a Public Open House Session, a Residents and Industry Session plus three technical sessions for in-depth discussion.

A Governance and Administration Technical Session, an Assessment and Taxation Technical Session and Planning and Development Technical Session.

Two other workshops, The Municipal Officials' Workshop and the Municipal Administrators' Workshop, were held for elected officials and those who play a role in support of the operations of municipalities.

to provide input on the MGA

Summaries from each of the sessions including the comments and opinions of participants during the sessions were considered by Alberta Municipal Affairs as part of a larger review of the MGA legislation.

Attendees at Rocky Mountain House were given a MGA Policy Issues Overview with over 60 proposed policy issues that are proposed to be changed.

The first town on the list is a Provincial Municipal Relationship. "Preamble" which asks, "Should the province legislate municipal and provincial rules and responsibilities? Under the current Governance, the partnership between the Province and municipalities is implied but not explicitly mentioned but not explicitly mentioned in the MGA or other legislation. Roles and responsibilities are not legislated. Under the proposed change, a partnership will be incorporated into the MGA to describe the partnership relationship between the province and municipalities.

Another policy to be changed relates to the Official Training. Should the Municipal Government Act establish minimum standards for council orientation and training of municipal elected officials? Currently the MGA does not require council or administration orientation and training required for all municipal officials to offer elected officials orientation training for municipal elected officials.

Another key policy to be changed relates to Appeal Boards. Should the MGA require impartiality of Appeal Boards? What requirements, if any, should the province place on municipal appeal board members that is legislation to reduce the perception of bias? Under the current policy, Municipal Appeal Boards can be found online.

ber sit on municipal appeal boards. Councils are not part of the majority of a Sub-division and Development Appeal Board. The Chair of the Municipal Government Board is the Deputy Minister or a designee. The proposed change will prohibit municipal and councilors from funding the majority of any municipal appeal board or individual hearing panel. Specifically the Chair of the MGB will be appointed by Cabinet as part of a larger review of the MGA legislation.

One other policy change among the 60 referred to land use policies. Should the province continue to have land use policies that apply province-wide? Under the current policy, any MGA land use policies currently in effect will continue to apply, and any land use policies created by the province will not apply, in any region that adopts an Alberta Land Use Act (ALSA) regional plan.

The proposed change will continue to place on the MGA to describe the partnership relationship between the province and municipalities.

Another policy to be changed relates to the Official Training. Should the Municipal Government Act establish minimum standards for council orientation and training of municipal elected officials? Currently the MGA does not require council or administration orientation and training required for all municipal officials to offer elected officials orientation training for municipal elected officials.

Another key policy to be changed relates to Appeal Boards. Should the MGA require impartiality of Appeal Boards? Specifically the Chair of the MGB will be appointed by Cabinet as part of a larger review of the MGA legislation.

One other policy change among the 60 referred to land use policies. Should the province continue to have land use policies that apply province-wide? Under the current policy, any MGA land use policies currently in effect will continue to apply, and any land use policies created by the province will not apply, in any region that adopts an Alberta Land Use Act (ALSA) regional plan.

RCMP Seek Public's Assistance in Fort McMurray Wildfire Investigation

Edmonton, AB - The RCMP is seeking the public's assistance in the investigation into the cause of wild fire MFW-009, which started 15 kilometers south west of the city of Fort McMurray and led to the evacuation of several communities in the Wood Buffalo region. Including Fort McMurray, in early May of this year. The RCMP has been working closely with provincial wildfire investigators to determine the cause of the fire.

Wildfire investigators for the province of Alberta have established that the fire was most likely the result of human activity, having ruled out lightning as a probable cause. MFW-009 was first sighted by an airborne forestry crew 16-kilometers southwest of Fort McMurray on May 1st.

The role of the RCMP is to determine whether a criminal offence was involved in the ignition of fire MFW-009. To date, police have not made a determination on how the fire was started, but would like to speak with anyone who was in the popular wilder area known as the Horse River Trail System between April 28, 2016 and May 5, 2016. These people may have information that could assist police in the investigation.

The RCMP's dedicated toll-free wildfire investigation phone line is 1-888-628-8289. If you have any information that could assist in this investigation, please contact the Thorsby RCMP at 780-789-3951 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477 or www.crimestoppers.ab.ca if you wish to remain anonymous.

These things to remain anonymous may call Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477 or Crime Stoppers, you do not need to reveal your identity. Crime Stoppers subscribe to Call Display, Call Trace or tap any phone calls. Crime Stoppers want your tip, not your name

15 is Fair campaign launched

Special to the Western Review
Edmonton: Alberta's labour movement has launched a campaign calling on the government to raise the minimum wage to $15 an hour by 2018, as the premier and labour minister have vowed to do. It would help Albertans who are struggling, and could boost the economy by putting money in the pockets of those who are least likely to spend it.

Theresa May's cabinet supports the NDP was in part because Albertans overwhelmingly supported their promise to raise the minimum wage. Alberta Federation of Labour president Gil McGowan said, "While there are vested interests campaigning loudly against the minimum wage, there's a quiet majority who support the idea that workers should be paid fairly, and who aren't being heard in this debate. We want them to be heard."

"If someone is working full-time, they should not be below the poverty line," McGowan said. "Anyone earning less than $15 an hour lives below the poverty line. It's a reality for hundreds of thousands of Albertans."

ASBA looks forward to reviewing details of Alberta Education curriculum
Alberta Liberal Leader David Swann calls for action on education funding for Syrian refugees. Alberta Liberal Leader Dr. David Swann expressed his concern with the lack of additional provincial or federal funding to Alberta school boards to help them handle new Syrian refugee students.

Swann calls for action on Syrian refugee funding
"It was a commitment by all levels of government to not only transport refugees to Canada, but ensure that they were properly settled in their new homes," Swann continued. "We cannot leave this financial burden on school boards that are already struggling to provide adequate services for students."

SAINT PETERSBURG — Nov. 23 (UPI) — Focus your attention on those actions that will help you be most successful in Sagittarius. This means not getting involved with too many things, but concentrating on the few that are most important.

CAPRICORN—Dec 22/Jan 20
Capricorn, progress is hard to come by. Find a system that works for you. You will soon start to gain momentum. Allow events to unfold as they wish.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18
Straightforward actions will help others your motives more clearly. Aquarius, time to share your intentions with friends otherwise if you desire their support.

PSCCB - Feb 15/Mar 20
Pisces, long-term planning becomes priority in the week ahead. Put future that involve finances at the top of your

Finding another job after a layoff

Dear Working Wife:
I got laid off a few months ago and I want to find another job as fast as possible. Considering the slowdown in the oil patch, I'm wondering if I should try to find a similar job or see what else is out there. Signed: Lost After Layoff

Dear Lost:
It can be hard to know where to begin when you're suddenly laid off—especially when your whole sector is under pressure—but a good starting point is your local Alberta Works Centre.

Alberta Works Centres are job-search centres staffed by Career and Employment Consultants.

There are 51 Alberta Works Centres located across the province offering free:

- Job Fairs
 - Employment consultations
 - Job-market forecasts/trends/statistics
 - Resume and job-interview workshops
 - Information on careers and training options
 - Job-search tools, including computers and photocopies
- To find the Alberta Works Centre nearest you, visit: humanresources.alberta.ca/

The Alberta Learning Information Service (ALIS) website alis.alberta.ca is another helpful resource for job seekers and career explorers.

You don't even have to leave your house to access the ALIS job-fairs calendar.

Free online resume review service

Creating a New Future: The Job Loss Workbook

You can also get career and job-search advice over the phone. Call the Career Information Hotline toll-free at 1-800-661-3753 (786-622-4266 in Edmonton). The hotline is staffed by career advisors weekdays 8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Once you decide what kinds of jobs to search for, check out Alberta's largest job bank: the Canada-Alberta Job Bank (www.jobbank.gc.ca). The job bank features job-search, job-match, and job-alert features that help make finding your next job simpler and easier.

Job fairs are another great way to find unadvertised jobs and sell yourself to employers. The Alberta Government hosts and supports dozens hiring events every year. A list of these upcoming job fairs is available at: humanresources.alberta.ca/jobsfairs.

And news of upcoming local job fairs can be sent straight to your social media feed if you "Like" your local Alberta Works jobs Facebook page: humanresources.alberta.ca/loctime.

Losing your job can be difficult, but emotional support is available, including:

Mental Health Helpline: 1-877-303-2642

Edmonton Distress Line: 780-482-4357

Calgary Distress Line: 403-266-1605

All of these services for Albertans affected by layoffs is available at:

humanresources.alberta.ca/employees-facing-layoff.

Good luck!

The Western Toad

Eagle Point—Blue Rapids Park Council

It's breeding season for the western toad, which means you have a higher chance of spotting the normally nocturnal creature.

Western toads and their eggs have very recently been spotted in Eagle Point. Blue Rapids Parks and the surrounding area.

The western toad is classified as Sensitive in Alberta. Populations are decreasing elsewhere in the province and widespread in the past. You can help monitor western toad in the parks and elsewhere by contacting the Alberta Volunteer Amphibian Monitoring Program and the Recording Amphibian Numbers in Alberta program.

Normally the toad is not spotted during the day, but in seasons of high activity within the toads, such as breeding season, they can be active during the day.

The western toad's breeding season is from April to June. At this time the toads gather in breeding ponds where the male toads attract the females with a quiet peeping noise.

Mandus Wilson, Eagle Point—Blue Rapids park education coordinator, and her family recently were able to spot some western toad eggs along an area by the fireweed dam. She noted common toad tadpoles and frog and toad eggs.

The eggs of the western toad are laid in a long string form and are often submerged or covered with plants and vegetation within the pond.

A single female can produce thousands of eggs, which will hatch three to 12 days after being laid.

The tadpoles will begin their life as just 6.4 inches long and by the time they have matured to a full grown toad they will be from 2 to 5 inches in length.

Adult toads will usually be green or brown with a strip down their back and their warms will usually be reddish in color. Though toads have warts, despite what many say, you cannot get warts from toads.

Our local Eagle Point Provincial Park and Blue Rapids Provincial Recreation areas have much to offer and these types of experiences are great for the whole family. Get active, get outdoors!

Parliament update for June 6

Jim Eggenfeldt — MP for Yellowknife

This week in Parliament, we largely debated the budget. We also covered topics including charitable donations, impaired driving, ISIS, and the national anthem.

The following was debated:

- Bill C-15 - Budget Implementation Act, 2016, No. 1 (Report Stage and Third Reading).
- Motion No. 49 - Abandoned Vehicle (First Debate).
- Bill C-239 - Children in Charitable Care Act (Second Reading).
- Bill C-233 - National Strategy for Alzheimer's disease and Other Dementias Act (Second Reading).
- Bill C-226 - Impaired Driving Act (Second Debate).

Conservative Motion - calling on the House to strongly condemn atrocities committed by ISIS and declare that these crimes constitute genocide.

Bill C-210 - An Act to amend the National Anthem Act (Third Reading).

The debate opportunity to participate in the debate of MP Ted Falk's Private Member's Bill (C-239). This bill was a great initiative that would have allowed registered charities to pay more money to the federal government.

One of the most important documents that politicians can issue. However, I was extremely disappointed that the majority of Liberal and New Democrat Members voted to keep their preferential tax treatment of political donations. You can read my comments on page 77 of the following document: www.parl.ca/committees/committee/421/Debate/007/Motion/49.pdf.

This week in the Standing Committee on Environment and Sustainable Development, we reviewed the Federal Sustainable Development Act and the Canadian Environmental Protection Act, 1999. For more information on committee meetings, visit www.parl.ca/Committees/ENVI.

Throughout the week, I attended 12 meetings and two events. Though the House will be sitting next week, I will be back in the House during the week in attendance. Look for an update next Friday on the happenings of Parliament.
